

Director of Marketing and Communications

Salary: circa £55k - £60k per annum

At Stanmore College, our focus is to provide excellence in teaching and learning in an environment where both young and adult learners can achieve their potential through a wealth of provision and top-class teaching from highly skilled staff.

Our new Director of Marketing and Communications will play a pivotal role in enhancing the college's reputation, increasing student recruitment and strengthening relationships with key stakeholders.

As an experienced and results-driven marketing and communication professional, you will lead, mentor and inspire a talented team to shape a collaborative, innovative and high-performing working environment. You will drive compelling strategic marketing initiatives and develop effective communication strategies to promote our mission and values, showcase our achievements for optimal impact, and contribute to creating an environment where staff and learners prosper, progress and accomplish their personal goals.

We have retained FE Associates to support us with this important appointment. Interested parties are advised to arrange an initial discussion about this exciting opportunity with our recruitment partner, Suzanne.Thurlow@fea.co.uk, ahead of the closing date and prior to submitting an application.

Closing date: 9am on Tuesday 30 January 2024

Interview date: Friday 9 February 2024
